TRAINING AND PLACEMENT

Record 1300+ recruitment ... Temple News

Dear Readers.

The academic landscape is now apt to assimilate new policies and see them germinate successfully into a strong futuristic foundation. India's subscription to the 'Make in India' movement cannot be realized without a 'Skilled India' and the education sector plays the pivotal role in making India skilled. Gandhiji had once said, "Milk cannot be stored in a pot made of paper." The context of this far reaching thought cannot be ignored. Thus, it is very important to build strong foundations and impart training from an early stage.

The April-May-June issue of Reflection highlights the internship and training programmes undergone by the students across various branches of the College under noteworthy schemes like RGSTC-TIFAC-MSME Internship Scheme and also celebrates record highest placements in the college ever during campus placement drive. The faculties too weren't far behind, and conducted as well as underwent various STTPs and published numerous research papers to add to the College's margue.

Happy reading!

Do you take part in sports alongside your studies? Do you think it's affecting your academic performance?

1

The system of education makes the students feel stressed and stalls their mental development and makes them completely reject physical activities. The overall outcome of this is the development of groups of graduates and professionals with weak body and poor physique. Mental and moral development is not enough for the young generation. They also require physical development. All the achievements and the graduate degrees are a waste without a good structure and healthy personality. A healthy and strong body alone is capable to face various struggles of life successfully. Academic learning and sports complement each other. They resemble the two sides of the same coin. If sport is carried in accompaniment of academic curriculum, the over-all personality of the student is enhanced to a great extent. They learn the qualities of the leadership, sharing, team spirit and tolerance from sports. Sports not only teach the students to maintain their physical stamina, but also the habits of obedience, discipline, the determination to win and will power.

The power of reasoning, mental development and vocational specialization come from academics. Therefore sports along with academics, result in the mental, moral and physical learning. Losing a game is a skill that will stand one in good stead for a life time. It teaches one to bounce back after a defeat, to stand up after a fall and to fight back. This is an essential lesson for leading a successful life. Sports train students to face the defeat with a smile and maintain the humility even in the victory. Chasing deadlines and running late to lectures are the most strenuous forms of exercise many students engage in. The weeks are over-engaged of sportspeople, this makes them extremely organized, disciplined and efficient with time-management, which are useful skills.

'All work and no play make Jack a dull boy'. We want Jack to become a bright young man. So, we must make games and sports not optional but compulsory with academics at all levels, so that the approach to it may be sincere, not casual.
